April in Paris, Chestnuts in blossom holiday tables under the trees April in Paris, this is a feeling No one can ever reprise

LA VILLE LUMIÈRE-THE CITY OF LIGHT
Paris is often referred to as The City of Light both because of its leading role during the Age of Enlightenment and more literally because it was one of the first European Cities to adopt gas street lighting.

ALFRESCO DINING
According to Wikipedia, the Italian phrase, al fresco for "in the cool air", is not in current use in that language to refer to dining outside. Instead, Italians use the phrases fuori or all'aperto. Now, the Italian expression al fresco usually refers to spending time in jail.

FANTASTICAL GARGOYLES
When Gargoyles began appearing on churches throughout Europe in the 13th century, they were designed to preserve stone walls by diverting the flow of rainwater outward from rooftops. Even Washington National Cathedral in D.C. has a Darth Vader Gargoyle.

L’ÂPERÔ ou L’APÉRITIF
The French say un aperitif. It is a pre-dinner drink with finger food similar to a cocktail party. Lasting from 30 minutes to 3 hours, it is usually held 6-9pm. As a full meal, it is called ‘un apéro dinatoire’. It can be a quick drink with olives but most of the time it is much more. It’s a convivial evening with friends. Think: cheeses, pâtés, salami, wines, specialty beers, vegetable crisps, olives, nuts, and savory croissants.

“LOVE LOCKS” ON THE PONT DES ARTS
Love Locks are a symbol of love and commitment where lovers lock a padlock on a gate or bridge and throw away the key, symbolically locking their love forever. In August 2014, the Paris Mayor's Office launched the "Love Without Locks" campaign to encourage tourists to take "selfies" instead of leaving love locks. In 2015, 45 tons of padlocks on the Pont des Arts were removed to keep the bridge from collapsing.

MACARONS
Macarons, made from almond flour and meringue, is the French word for macaroon but are never the coconut-based cookie. Macarons are one of the most amazing pastries with hundreds of flavors and fillings.

MOULIN ROUGE CABARET SHOW
The Moulin Rouge is marked by the red windmill on its roof. It is best known as the spiritual birthplace of the modern form of the can-can dance. Originally introduced as a seductive dance by the courtesans who operated from the site, the can-can dance revue evolved into a form of entertainment of its own and led to the introduction of cabarets across Europe.

NYMPHÉAS
Claude Monet’s breathtaking Water Lilies Series, 8 pieces, each 6.5 feet high, is permanently displayed at the Musée de l'Orangerie under direct diffused light as was originally intended by Monet. The paintings can be viewed in two oval rooms all along the walls. Monet donated the enormous panels to France as a symbol and hope for global peace.

"...ON THE ISLAND OF LA GRANDE JATTE"
Georges Seurat’s famous painting uses Pointillism, a technique of painting in which small, distinct dots of color are applied in patterns to form an image. The Île de la Grande Jatte is an island in the river Seine. Between 1850 and 1870 artists began painting there.

At the end of the 19th century the island became known for its painters, especially the impressionists.

PRINTEMPS
Claude Debussy was seen, during his lifetime and afterwards, as the first Impressionist composer, although he vigorously rejected the term.

PYRAMID OF THE LOUVRE
Celebrate the controversial glass entrance to the Louvre: Some objections were (1) the modernist style is inconsistent with the classic French Renaissance style and history of the Louvre; (2) the project is a pretentious, megalomaniacal folly by then-President, François Mitterrand; (3) Chinese-American architect I.M. Pei is not French enough to be entrusted with the task of updating the treasured Parisian landmark.

With 8.1 million visitors, the Louvre was the most visited museum in the world in 2017.

THE LADY AND THE UNICORN
Six huge scarlet tapestries-covered in flowers and animals frolicking around a lady, a unicorn, a lion, and 4 trees-are on display at the Musée de Cluny. The lovely ancient building, sprouting over Roman foundations with baths, is a rabbit warren of remnants rescued from the middle ages-pieces of stained glass, beautiful jewelry, sacramental objects, pottery and carvings.

THE SPARKLING TOWER
The night-time Eiffel Tower has 20,000 lightbulbs, 5,000 per side, that sparkle for five minutes on the hour, every hour, from nightfall to 1AM. It is illegal to take a photograph of the tower at night because the light display is considered artwork and therefore protected under copyright law.

TRES CHIC-ON THE AVENUE DES CHAMPS-ÉLYSÉES
Linking the Place de la Concorde with the Arc de Triomphe, the Avenue des Champs-Élysées is arguably the most famous street in Paris. From souvenir shopping to luxury flagship stores, it is known for its theatres, cafés, luxury shops, and jewelry stores. It is also famous for the annual Bastille Day military parade, and as the finish for the Tour de France cycle race.

YAPPY HOUR
There are almost 17 dogs to every 100 people in France with an unofficial dog population of some 10 million, over 500,000 in Paris alone. Around 40 percent of French people list their dogs as the most important thing in their lives-even more important than their lovers.

OH, LÀ LÀ
The French phrase, "ôh, là, là", isn't so much an expression as an interjection. It can indicate surprise, disappointment, compassion, distress, annoyance or any moderately strong reaction to something that was just said or done. Note that there is no connotation of sexiness or impropriety in French. Là, là may be repeated any number of times but always doubled, never a single là!

"THE OCEAN'S SONG"
The Jardin des Poètes or Square des Poètes honors French poets. Strewn across the quiet garden are stones with plaques on which verses and the name of the poet are inscribed. There are some busts of poets and at the center stands a statue of Victor Hugo created by Auguste Rodin.

"And saw the boundless waters stretch in glory
And heave in power.
O Ocean vast! We heard thy song with wonder
Whilst waves marked time."
